Subject:

"Canada - 1967
— Outward Look"

Canada, in its centennial year, has its own internal problem, all of which, I believe, can be solved by men of intelligence and good will.

At the same time however, we must acknowledge our responsibilities in the family of nations. This, we are in a unique position to do. As a "middle power" with no imperialistic ambitions, we are trusted by other countries — we share a common frontier with both the United States and the U.S.S.R. — the senior member of the Commonwealth, we have been accepted as a voice of reason in the New Commonwealth. In the councils of the United Nations we are listened to with respect.

Modern communications have made the world a neighbourhood; it is our task to help make it a brotherhood. Are we doing everything in our capacity at this critical period in the history of mankind?

Biography: Joseph McCulley, born in Glasgow, Scotland, and emigrated to Canada in 1907. Attended school in St. Thomas, Ontario, then the Faculty of Education, Toronto. Graduated from University College in Honour Philosophy and was awarded a Massey Fellowship. In 1924-1926 he attended Christ Church, Oxford, winning his Masters degree in Honour Modern History. He has held positions of Headmaster, Pickering College, Deputy Commissioner of Penitentiaries, Warden of Hart House.

He has been and still is, a member of many Governmental Committees.
